Introduction

In our country, historical works of state importance are being carried out in order to strengthen the place and status of women in society. After all, the stability of the political, socio-spiritual environment in the society is related to the attitude and attention to women. A woman's elegance and delicacy, loyalty and loyalty, intelligence and self-sacrifice are the basis for the continuity and eternity of life on earth for centuries. The world's greatest works of art, songs and odes, architectural monuments are dedicated to the honor of women. It is also an organizational form of people's lifestyle. The main task of the neighborhood is to be aware of the way of life of families within the administrative territorial unit, to participate in family traditions and ceremonies, and to participate in the processes of its management. The first President of Uzbekistan I. Karimov said about this: "The neighborhood has now become a fair place that has won the trust of the people and a mechanism for supporting the population. It has become a reliable support and an effective tool for implementing reforms in our society necessary". So far, in social philosophical research, the issues of the formation of adequate public opinion regarding the increase of women's activity have not been sufficiently studied as a phenomenon that creates new socio-cultural values in the conditions of civil society improvement. It was taken into account that the activities of the leading bodies of the Women's Committee of Uzbekistan and the Republican Council for Coordination of the Activities of Citizens' Self-Governing Bodies, which operated from 1991 to 2020, are unable to meet the requirements of the current era.

As a result, the transition to a new system of financing citizens' self-government bodies - President of the Republic of Uzbekistan Shavkat Mirziyoyev's February 18, 2020 "Improvement of the social and moral environment in society, further support of the neighborhood institution and family and the Decree No. HO-5938 on measures to bring the system of working with women to a new level was adopted. We bring to mind a highly spiritual, active leader or employee, a kind mother who raises a perfect generation, a respected woman, a well-organized mistress. Ensuring the appropriate socio-political status of such a woman is the main goal of the reforms being carried out in our country.

In order to increase the socio-political activity of women in the life of society, it is necessary to implement the following measures:

- development of programs that include issues of improving women's working and living conditions;
- supporting women's self-employment and entrepreneurship;
- creation of jobs, organization of household labor.

In order to expand the socio-political activity of women, it is necessary to take the following measures at the state level:

creation of new jobs;

attract international banks, funds and organizations to organize opportunities to receive small preferential loans to support socially vulnerable women;

open free training courses for employment of housewives;

revision of the mechanism of taxing households and farms;

development and encouragement of rural women in the field of small business;

to continue providing preferential loans to women;

consolidation of public and state organizations for the protection of women's rights;

to work at the neighborhood level to increase the legal literacy and social activity of women and girls, to involve our women so that national crafts based on our national values do not disappear, etc.

Increasing the socio-political activity of women is an important factor in the reforms implemented in our country. After all, a woman is the pillar of the family and society. If our families are peaceful and prosperous, our society and country will be a country built on the basis of strong families.

The role of women in the neighborhood is critical to creating a diverse and prosperous community. Women often play several roles that contribute to the well-being and development of a neighborhood, including:

- Caregivers and community builders: Women often assume caregiving responsibilities within families and the wider community. They play an important role in educating and supporting the neighborhood's children, elderly and other people in need of social protection.

- Organizers of community initiatives: Women are usually involved in organizing various community initiatives such as neighborhood clean-ups, charity events and social support groups. They often act as catalysts for positive change and social cohesion.

- Educational and mentoring role: Women often contribute to the education and mentoring of children and youth in the neighborhood. They can volunteer in schools, offer tutoring services, or serve as mentors for aspiring professionals.

- Entrepreneurship and contribution to the economy: Many women in the neighborhood are engaged in entrepreneurship and contribute to the local economy through their businesses. Their efforts create jobs, support local commerce and contribute to community well-being.

- Advocates for social issues: Women often advocate for social issues within the neighborhood such as equality, education, health and the environment. They may lead or participate in advocacy groups seeking positive change and social justice.

Conclusion:

Recognizing and supporting the diverse roles women play in the community is critical to the development of inclusive and equitable societies. Encouraging women's participation in decision-making processes, providing access to educational and economic opportunities, and recognizing their contribution is an integral part of a vibrant and cohesive neighborhood.
