Ten years inside from Uzbekistan the number of migrants has increased intensively, it and foreign countries with international cooperation to the level of positive impact show. External labor migration for the economy impact mainly remittances through manifestation will be. Present on that day Uzbekistan money remittances size according to Central Asia is the leader place For example, in 2024 the country came money remittances of 14.8 billion U.S. dollars per dollar will be enough, this country has a gross domestic product of about 15 percent organization It will funds mainly family budget support, education, health storage and small businesses develop for it is used. Migration through the formation of remittances, the country, foreign currency, and reserves are also important for strengthening the role plays. This is money, transfers, Uzbekistan, currency on the market, to ensure stability, the national currency, the exchange rate is sharp, to decrease, to prevent, to take assistance. Together, remittances to the local banking system and the finance sector develop a positive impact These factors show countries an international financial joint stance in increasing aid. However, Uzbekistan's economy is becoming dependent on remittances to remain in danger. Because this income is a lot in terms of external economic to the situation of Russia economic status and political situation change including Ukraine conflict and he/she relatively current made sanctions, Uzbek migrants work to conditions and to their income negative impact. It shows. The country brings uncertainty to the surface in the economy. That is why for Uzbekistan government labor migration diversification do, new labor markets entry, foreign investment attraction make great attention international connections point of view from the point of view of migrants Uzbekistan and foreign countries between the bridge task They do it. The very life in the countries of Uzbekistan interests earlier in the push of active participation will be, trade and economic connection and cultural bridges in strengthening the mediation of migrants organizations, diasporas and compatriots of society exactly this for this purpose formed, state and citizens between relations further It is deepening. Countries International on the field image enlarged.

Also, interstate diplomatic cooperation work in the field of migration is an important role of the play. Uzbekistan is external in politics, there is a lot of vector approach to principles, great importance with Russia, a long term, strategic cooperation to continue enough. Yes, China. and the European Union with economic cooperation within a new opportunity is expanding. Especially with China's Belt and Road Initiative, the "Way" initiative within the limits made by increasing infrastructure projects, new transport routes to the country are opening up. It is regional trade their connections to activate, new investment attraction to make opportunities increase.

The International Financial Organization, including the World Bank and the International Monetary Fund, Uzbekistan migration policies support and its/her economic efficiency they help to increase. To the data recommendations, in the country labor migration with the related institutional infrastructure is strengthening, legislation and labor conditions are improving. A social perspective from migrants' perspective family to life, children to education, and for society Impact is also important. They have to sent funds not only material to help, maybe education and health storage services It is also aimed at improving. Together, separately working in the country, Uzbeks have a lot to problems face advent – legal protection, absence, cultural, adaptive, difficulties, social isolation like. These problems are the solution to grow for the government to various assistance programs and legal services on the road placed.

From Uzbekistan, labor migrants from foreign countries with international connections in the development role is incomparable. The migration process is not only a country for the economy large in size remittances through a positive impact show, perhaps political and cultural connection is also important to strengthen the tool abroad working our compatriots themselves living in the countries of Uzbekistan interests earlier push, our culture promote do and two unilateral cooperation in the development of active participation Also, Uzbekistan government labor migration order plant and migrants rights protection do Regarding a number of important measures made by Russia, Kazakhstan, South Korea, Germany such as countries with structured labor contracts and international transactions this process further strengthen the service of the international in relations many vector approach and countries political and economic interests in providing important importance of the profession However, migration related economic dependence and social problems are there are, they are on further active work is needed. In the future, labor, migration, politics, further improvement, new jobs, their places to create, and compatriots, the country, for the economy, attraction, in accordance with the strategy, it is necessary to increase what has been done. This is Uzbekistan international in the field instead of further strengthening, economic and social stability to ensure the service does.
