

MILITARY SERVICE PRIDE: NATIONAL UNITY AND SECURITY

Shoimov Odil Kasimovich
Academy of Armed Forces of the Republic of Uzbekistan

ABSTRACT	KEYWORDS
This annotation summarizes the topic of the pride of the military service, its role in ensuring national solidarity and security. In the formation of a sense of national unity, military service plays an extremely important role in ensuring the security of the nation. This article explores how tolerance and self-sacrifice made by military personnel contribute to a cohesive society and highlights their role in protecting the people from external threats. He explores the sense of pride that comes from serving his country, which can shape a collective self and dedication to the welfare of the people. This article explores the role of the military in ensuring both national solidarity and security, clarifying the necessary contributions of service members in maintaining the welfare and stability of the nation.	Pride, security, military service, identity, national idea.

Introduction

Military service occupies an important place in societies around the world, often instilling deep pride and a sense of national identity. This article explores the pride associated with military service and highlights its role in forming national solidarity and ensuring the security of the nation.

Military service is often associated with a sense of national pride. Enlistment indicates dedication to the protection and service of one's nation, which can deeply shape a sense of patriotism and loyalty. Most individuals join the military with the dream of protecting their country and realizing its values.

1. Dedication to national defense:

The military service expresses a deep commitment to the protection and protection of its nation. Those who chose to serve in the armed forces voluntarily put themselves in harm's way to protect their country and citizens. This tolerance for national defense is a source of immense pride, and it sets an example of self-sacrifice and dedication for the collective well-being of the nation.

2. Realization of values and ideals:

The military often serves as a symbol of national values and ideals. Soldiers were charged with supporting the nation's principles of building, such as freedom, justice, democracy. The pride associated with military service stems from the belief that by serving in the armed forces, individuals actively defend and promote these core values.

3. Unity and interaction:

The military forms a sense of solidarity, mutual communication and common purpose among the servicemen. Members of the service are strictly educated and face difficulties together, falsifying strong bonds and the deep feelings they belong to. This shared experience creates a sense of pride in being part of a collective effort to protect and serve the people.

4. Community service:

Servicemen often engage in various humanitarian and peace protection missions both at home and internationally. Their service extends beyond combat, as they provide support, support and stability in times of crisis. The pride associated with military service comes not only from defense, but also from the negative impact of military personnel on communities and society in general.

5. National idea:

Military service plays an important role in ensuring and strengthening the identity of the nation. Members of the service embody the values and customs that define the nation through their tolerance, discipline and courage. The pride instilled in those who serve helps to form a strong national identity, forms a sense of identity and solidarity among citizens.

For some, military service provides a way to contribute to even more interests, to ensure the safety and security of their compatriots. Self-sacrifice by military personnel, such as time away from the family, strict education, possible diagnosis of risks, are often seen as acts of self-sacrifice and tolerance to their nation.

In addition, as the military acts together towards a common mission, it can arouse a sense of mutual communication and solidarity between those serving. This shared experience creates a strong bond and a sense of belonging to a larger community.

Conclusion:

The pride of the military service relies deeply on tolerance for the protection of its nation, the realization of its values, the formation of national solidarity. This service is an example of dedication, dedication, deep dedication to the collective well-being of the nation. Men and women serving in the military play a very important role in ensuring national security and perpetuating the feeling of pride among their compatriots.

However, it is important to note that perspectives on military service and national pride can vary between individuals and across different cultures and societies. Some may question the need for military action or have different views on what really constitutes national pride.

References

1. O_zbekiston Respublikasining —Mudofaa to_g_risidagil Qonuni 2001-yil.
2. O_zbekiston Respublikasi Mudofaa Vazirligi informatsion blyutenlari 2022-yil.
3. O_zbekiston Respublikasining —Umumxarbiy majburiyat va harbiy xizmat to_g_risidalgi Qonuni. 2003-yil.
4. MUXAMEDJANOVA, L. (2022). Philosophical classification of the concepts of modernization of society and moral values. <https://scienceweb.uz/publication/5222>.